

Sun Peaks Forecast (Inside ski area boundary)

Issued at 7 am

Morning

Afternoon

Evening

A low pressure system will move over southern B.C. on Saturday. This will give 10 to 15 cm of snow. By later in the day we expect northerly winds to become gusty and temperatures will begin to get colder. For Saturday night these northerly winds will pull arctic air down over southern B.C. and this will give another 5 cm of snow. Gusty north winds will continue. Clearing skies on Sunday and cold. Daytime highs will be near minus 12 C for Saturday and near minus 18 C for Sunday.

Current weather and snow conditions

3cm of new snow over night with light winds southwest turning East, Light wind over night have transport the new snow on to sheltered, lee aspects. Total of 8cm of new storm snow over the last 48 hours.

3cm last 12hrs

Wind loaded pockets

New snow should freshen up groomers

Snow conditions

Tree line	HS	21	Snow °C	-10	24 HR	3cm
Below tree	HS	170	Snow °C	-10	24 HR	3cm

For more information please contact one of the snow safety team

Avalanche Canada Forecast

North Columbia's

Issued yesterday at 4 pm

	Today	Tomorrow
Alpine	3 - Considerable	3 - Considerable
Tree line	3 - Considerable	2 - Moderate
Below tree line	2 - Moderate	2 - Moderate

More information at www.avalanche.ca or Avalanche Canada mobile app

CAUTION

The avalanche hazard information is a generalized forecast from Avalanche Canada for this region provided for your information only. Local conditions can and do vary widely and can be dangerous at any time even if the forecast does not report this. Know your route, be properly equipped, notify someone of your travel plans, never ski alone. Sun Peaks Resort LLP does not endorse or encourage going beyond the ski area boundary at any time. Persons going beyond the ski area boundary do so at their own risk and assume all liability and responsibility for their own safety.